Mercy at The Roadside

The Red Cross, whose purpose is to alleviate suffering and prevent distress, has extended its mission of mercy to the roadways of Morgan county. The first of a series of emergency stations has been established, and others will follow. If one life is saved, if an unfortunate person is relieved from unnecessary suffering before he is placed in care of a physician or removed to a hospital, the efforts and expenditure of the Red Cross will be worth while.

In placing emergency kits in places of easy access in this county the Red Cross has not depended on chance that these will be used effectively. With characteristic thoroughness, the great humane organization has worked out a plan whereby expert first aid treatment will be available at all times. Men and women have volunteered their services if they should be called upon; they have given time and study to preparation that they may be of use in emergency. At Woodson, where the first emergency station has been opened, nine persons have qualified to administer first aid. Some of them will be available at all times, day and night.

Prompt care of the injured often is the means of saving a life or preventing permanent effects of an injury. Physicians and hospital attendants know that fractures often are made more severe by inexperienced handling of the victim at the scene of the accident, or while he is enroute to expert care. A wreck victim suffering from a broken leg should not be crammed into a car and his injury aggravated by bending or twisting the injured limb. Compound fractures have resulted from this form of ignorance on the part of persons who believed they were acting in best interests of the victim. Leg splints are a part of the Red Cross first aid station equipment, the persons in charge being fully instructed in how to apply them.

Lacerations are a common result of automobile accidents, and frequently a victim is greatly weakened by loss of blood before arrival of a physician, or admission to a hospital. The first aid course given by the Red Cross has taught a number of persons the proper methods of applying tourniquets and stopping the flow of blood from a wound. A first aid station is equipped to treat such cases, and the personnel of the staff is schooled in proper methods.

Thus, the Red Cross has extended its service to points where it is often needed—the hard roads, where hundreds of persons pass each day. The organization serves with distinction in mass disasters, where storms, fires and floods take a large toll of human life, but it has not forgotten the individual—the fellow who may lay injured at the roadside, in need of prompt, intelligent assistance that may mean life or death.

The Post For Landon

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch in a clear, dispassionate statement Sunday announced that "it cannot support Mr. Roosevelt for reelection to the presidency." The newspaper did not engage in a tirade of criticism against the administration; in fact, it paid President Roosevelt full credit for the courage he displayed at the beginning of his term of office. The Post merely let it be known that the policies of the national administration and its own policies of good government have reached a parting of the ways. The statement rang with the honesty of conviction. Few readers would doubt the sincerity of the Post's position, in view of the fact that it has supported Democratic candidates in the last five presidential elections.

"The question is whether we shall continue under the present constitutional system—a system which free competition is an integral and necessary part—or whether we shall substitute for it a federal bureaucracy with the unrestrained power to impose its fiat upon the daily affairs of the citizen. Such a bureaucracy not only destroys economic freedom but must, in the end, if it is to succeed, destroy political freedom," the St. Louis newspaper declared.

The Post's decision not to support the president for reelection follows the same line of reasoning that many individuals have taken. They may have been with Roosevelt at the start, as was the Post-Dispatch, but there is no disgrace attached to changing an opinion. The Post's statement of its position is so frank, so open and above board, that it no doubt will sway many voters who had been waiting and wondering, dissatisfied with the course the government is taking, but a bit backward about expressing their views. The stand of the Post-Dispatch is courageous, an honest statement in interest of what it believes to be best.

A Danger Averted

Jacksonville today has the satisfaction of knowing where its fall and winter supply of water is coming from. It is out in Lake Mauvalsterre, whose shallow spots have been blistered by the sun for several months; rippling, rolling, a bit muddy from its fast journey down the bed of dried-out streams, but safely captured for the use of citizens for months to come.

The five inches or more of rain that has fallen since Saturday has been a blessing, not only to this city, but to the surrounding communities.

The city's supply of water had for several months been alarmingly low. The Widenham-Daub wells were called upon once more to render emergency service. The water in the depleted lake was conserved, but evaporation continued to play havoc with the remaining supply.

However, all anxiety is now over. The lake is filling up, streams are running, wells are showing signs of resurrection. The water situation has improved almost one hundred percent.

Farmers, also, are jubilant again after a summer of trying experiences from the drought. Those who had almost lost faith in Illinois' weather and its ability to produce a crop, are again in a better frame of mind. The rains were long overdue, but they arrived. It is consoling to know that, after all, there is nothing basically wrong with Illinois weather—it was simply out of adjustment, and perhaps will make up for its temperamental streak this summer by sending a perfect season in 1937. Or, as an after-thought, a winter that is not too hot or too cold.

Dickinson Labels Roosevelt 'Greatest Promise Breaker'

By LESTER J. DICKINSON
United States Senator From Iowa
When a man makes a promise and breaks it, then makes another and breaks that, and contradicts himself time and again, can he ever be trusted to fulfill any future pledge that he makes?

This is the situation that confronts President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his New Deal party as they stand today at the cross-roads of American public opinion.

The facts are, and the record supports it, that President Roosevelt is the greatest promise-breaking chief executive in the history of the nation, and that he has never hesitated to turn from a pledge when political expediency demanded that action.

Governor Landon's record as chief executive of Kansas shows that he has never made a promise he could not fill, nor broken one that he ever made. He has been upright and straightforward, carrying on his state government on a pay-as-you-go basis.

In his acceptance speech, he said simply, "It (the party platform) has my complete adherence," and after outlining Republican plans for recovery, added, "We build ourselves, with a pledge, we shall not ignore, thrust or forget, to devote our whole energy to bringing these things about."

Scanning the Record

A glance at the Roosevelt record tells a different tale. On March 4, 1933, Mr. Roosevelt swore to uphold and preserve the Constitution. During his administration he has fathered nine pieces of legislation declared unconstitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court, and in writing to Representative Samuel B. Hill, Democrat, of Washington regarding the Guffey coal act, Mr. Roosevelt said: "I hope your committee will not permit doubts as to the constitutionality, however reasonable to block the suggested legislation."

The time that has been wasted by unconstitutional and visionary reforms constitutes an irreparable loss to the nation.

Quit Gold Standard

President Roosevelt promised "a sound currency to be preserved at all hazards." On April 30, 1933, he abandoned the gold standard in the United States by executive order; on May 12 of the same year he signed a bill giving him power to issue $3,000,000,000 in fiat money and on Jan. 31, 1934, he fixed the gold content of the dollar at 59.06 per cent of what it had formerly been.

President Roosevelt called the spending of the Hoover administration "the most reckless and extravagant pace" discoverable in any peacetime government. He promised a saving of 25 per cent in the cost of federal government.

The New Deal government increased the Hoover spending by 38 per cent in 1934; by 43 per cent in 1935; and by 82 per cent in 1936. It created more than 50 additional bureaus and agencies.

The nation's chief executive promised to avoid the danger of a loose fiscal policy, and to set an example by making the government solvent.

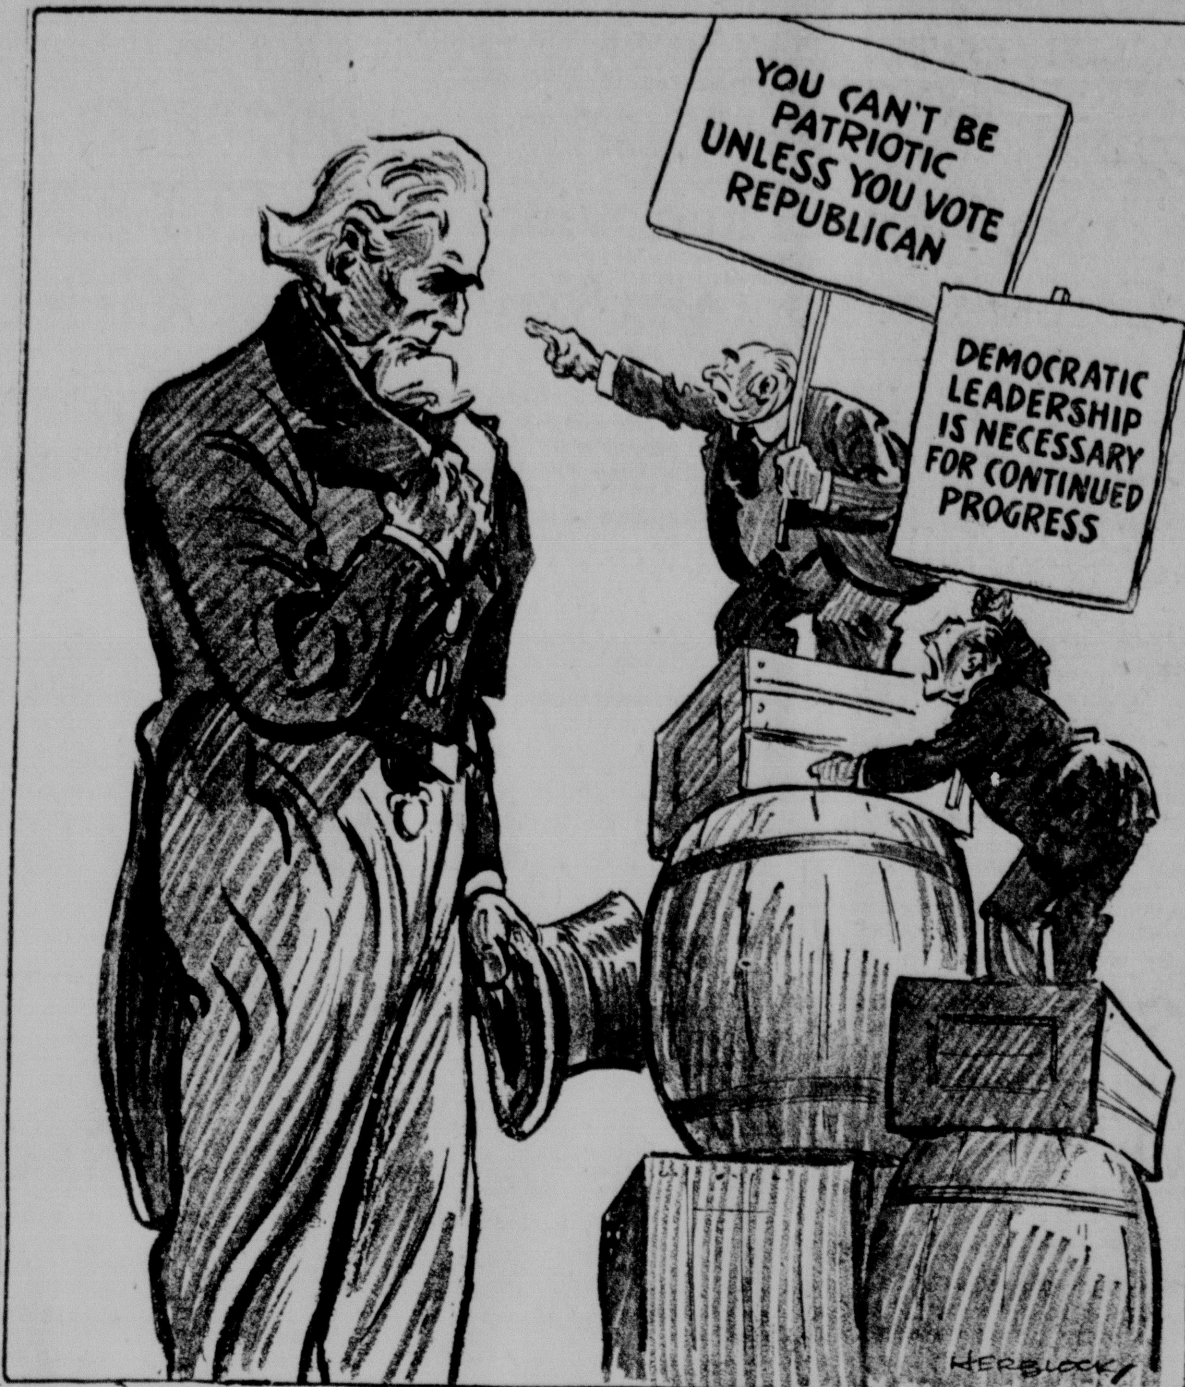

From March 4, 1933, to July 30, 1936, the New Dealers have increased the national debt by $13,563,000,000, to an all-time high of $34,500,000,000.

Yet in his budget message of Jan. 3, 1936, the president said, "The credit of the government is at its highest."

Spending Is Rapped

President Roosevelt promised in his inaugural address to make "the income balance outgo." During his administration he has spent more than twice as much as the government has re-

Absolute Cleanliness Necessary to Prevent Infection of Wound

BY DR. MORRIS FISHEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Whenever the skin is opened, torn or punctured, the injury is called a wound. Wounds vary, therefore, from the kind of puncture caused by the open end of a safety pin or by the point of a needle to severe injuries which tear several inches of the skin and penetrate into the cavities of the body.

received, spending $24,362,000,000 while taking in $10,832,000,000.

The president declared, on Oct. 19,

1932, in Pittsburgh, "Our people and our business cannot carry its excessive burdens of taxation." Passing 14 different pieces of tax legislation, estimated tax receipts of 1937 represent an increase of 196 per cent over 1933.

In 1934, the president deplored hidden, consumer taxes. On Sept. 2, 1935, in a letter to Publisher Roy F. Howard, he admitted that consumer taxes, which had supplied only 30 per cent of the national revenue in 1929, today are supplying 60 per cent of that total.

President Roosevelt declared on

Jan. 4, 1935, "The federal government must and shall quit this business of relief." Today there are approximately 11,000,000 people unemployed, while

WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins estimates that on Jan. 1, 1936, at least 19,000,000 people were receiving relief benefits.

Charges Relief Politics

On Feb. 2, 1934, President Roosevelt condemned politics in relief. Yet New Deal leaders in politics all over the nation, by letter and otherwise, warned those receiving relief and holding

WPA jobs to register Democratic or else lose their jobs.

In accepting his nomination, President Roosevelt subscribed to the removal of government from all fields of private enterprise, except where this was in the public interest. At least 20 government agencies created since

March 4, 1933, compete with private enterprise. On May 7, 1933, President

Roosevelt decreed government control of business. In his ruling on the NRA, the U. S. Supreme Court declared that under that act there would be "virtually no limit to the federal power, and, for all practical purposes, we should have a completely centralized government."

Agencies on Increase

In his campaign speeches, President

Roosevelt called for a simplification of government activities. Today there are three different federal committees, each independent of the other, studying overlapping services in the federal government.

Before the New Deal, 10 agencies dealt with production and distribution of power. In 1935, there were 23 agencies concerned with it. In 1932, two agencies were concerned with settling labor disputes. Today, 12 are interested.

For agencies of the government dealt with housing problems before the New Deal. Today, 15 are dealing with the problem.

Foreign trade concerned six agencies in 1932. The New Deal doubled the number.

Four federal agencies made loans to farmers in 1932. In 1936 there are 13 making such loans.

Eight federal agencies exercised control over public lands in 1932. Today, 15 exercise such control.

hands are as clean as possible. Wash them thoroughly with soap and water, and, if there is any alcohol handy, bathe them in that, too.

Everything you put on a wound must be sterilized; that is, free from germs. Hospitals prepare such materials in their own steam sterilizers, but the best way for the average man to get them is to buy them in a drug store. Many manufacturers now prepare sterile packages of gauze, adhesive tape and similar materials for use in first aid. If a drug store is not available, all the materials should be sterilized by boiling or by heating. A freshly laundered handkerchief or towel is likely to be sterile, because washing, heating and ironing will kill germs.

Frequently we read in the newspapers of the sudden death of some person who has simply scratched his hand or finger with a pin or who has had a small wound on the lip or on the inside of the nose.

Following a trivial injury, such as a penetrating wound from a sliver of wood or a pin, nail or piece of glass, the injured place becomes reddened, hot and painful. Sometimes red streaks appear running up the arm or leg.

If the injury affects the lips or the nose, there may be much swelling, pain and fever. In a short time the patient may have chills, sensations and within 24 hours be seriously sick. Infections of this type are usually caused by the germ of the family of streptococci, which also cause blood poisoning or sepsis.

When the original place of injury is examined, pus or infectious matter may not be visible, but the glands under the arm and around the elbow, or those in the groin will be enlarged, indicating the way in which the body is trying to get rid of the infection.

The first thing to do in such cases is to get the patient to bed. Then wrap the entire leg or arm in warm, wet dressings. Such patients must have as much fluid as possible.

The Nazi genius for presenting spectacles was brought into full play to create the "river of fire" portrayed in this unusual picture. Production Credit Group Returns from 2-Day Conference

Review Many Advances During Year: Local Organization Wins Trophy

Officers and directors of the Jacksonville Production Credit Association have returned from a two-day conference at Starved Rock State Park on the Illinois river in LaSalle county. Representing the local association at the meeting were J. G. Heaton, Austin Patterson, Frank Rockwood, J. Wes Smith, Mr. T. Wells and M. M. Want. Representatives were present from the twenty similar organizations serving the state.

The directors of the Jacksonville association reported to the conference that their cash loan fund had enabled them to speed up the making of crop and livestock loans so that they now could virtually provide over-the-counter service. Conference discussions centered around a review of past fiscal and credit operations, the building of adequate reserves, handling of feeder and other types of short-term agricultural credit, trends in the prices of livestock and farm products, analysis of loan applications, prompt service to member borrowers, and the procedure of discounting notes. Much interest was evidenced in the conference and the informal discussions which were generally participated in.

The Jacksonville Production Credit Association operates in Cass, Menard, Morgan, Pike, and Scott counties, and during the first eight months of this year has made loans totaling $232,591. This was an increase of 79 per cent over the corresponding period of 1935. These loans were made to 290 farmers, each of whom is a voting member and stockholder in the association. It was pointed out at the meeting that the cooperative principle upon which the production credit system was established enables farmers to borrow for any type of credit necessary in the operation of an Illinois farm, at a low interest rate.

Loan applications for cattle and lamb feeding can be promptly handled by the Jacksonville Production Credit Association, on the plan approved at the conference, according to Mr. Want, local secretary-treasurer. When the applicant has established a satisfactory credit standing and is an experienced feeder, the association issues a letter of credit for the purchase of feeder stock. This letter of credit is honored on all markets and the purchase transaction is completed upon the issuance of an invoice by the seller of the cattle. This procedure eliminates unnecessary delay due to barnyard inspections and gives the buyer the privilege of patronizing the market or agency of his choice. Similarly, no restrictions are placed in the selling of the finished stock by the association, Mr. Want explained.

Local representatives of the Jacksonville Production Credit Association who take applications for loans are M. M. Want, W. H. Franz, I. P. Story, all of Jacksonville; J. C. Venable of Pittsfield, and H. C. Hiett of Petersburg.

At the meeting just held Jacksonville Production Credit Association ranks first of the ten associations in accuracy of administration and they brought home a trophy of their achievement and 100 per cent attendance at the meeting.

Riefeling Automobile Company
2335 S. Jefferson Ave.
St. Louis, Missouri

Dear Sirs:

I am so well pleased with the 1936 Ford Coupe I purchased from you that I am taking the time to tell you of some of the results I have obtained from Ford cars.

In 1934 I purchased a Ford Coupe from your Company. I drove that car 36,000 miles in about fifteen months. I was very much satisfied with its economy and performance, and wish to say that I did not have any motor work done in that time.

I traded the 1934 Ford Coupe for a 1935 Ford Coupe. I found there were added improvements on the 1935 and it was a much better car than the 1934. I drove the 1935 coupe better than 44,000 miles with no repairs, except small incidentals. I was so well satisfied with the 1934 and 1935 Ford Coupes that I decided to buy a 1936. So far the '36 is far superior in every detail to either of the other two cars that I purchased from you, and my gasoline mileage averages 19.2 miles to the gallon.

I could not realize that there were such vast improvements in the various Ford cars, but I suppose manufacture will continue to improve, and there will be something better for 1937. I have driven various makes of automobiles and have never gotten the economy, satisfaction and reliability out of any of them that I have out of the Ford cars.

Yours very truly,

New features will include a summary of district work based on the annual reports to be given by the director. The outstanding work of the past year will be reviewed by delegates, bringing out the point of doing away with the monotonous repetition of routine duties.

Grace Church Doings

Dr. Havighurst in his final sermon bringing to a close a successful pastorate of six years delivered an inspiring message that will linger a time in the memory of those present at the morning service. The mixed chorus under the direction of Mrs. W. B. Brown made their first appearance of the fall season and presented some worshipful anthems with special solo parts.

Sunday school attendance was naturally very much reduced on account of the weather. Next Sunday the newly organized high school department of the Sunday school will meet as usual at 9:30. The adult classes will assemble at 9:45 and will go direct to their class meeting places. Next Sunday will be Rally Day in the Sunday school.

Dr. Havighurst spoke to the Young People's League at 6:30 upon the conditions in Europe, with particular emphasis upon Russia.

Mac Says Step Out of the Crowd

Discriminating men want clothes that are styled and tailored ahead of the regular trend in men's suits. That description exactly fits our new offering of CAPPS' Suits for fall.

It's hard to tell when you buy a suit—whether it contains those "hidden values" that make it a good investment. Is the fabric of good quality—or does it merely look good? Is the styling superficial—or built in to the suit to stay? Does good workmanship extend to the inner construction of the suit where you can't see it?

These are points for which you must depend on the integrity of the maker. They are reasons why the Capps' label means so much in the suit you buy.

Since 1839—almost 100 years—Capps' have been building the kind of quality into clothes that attracts more and more men to the Capps line.

Come in and see our new selection of Capps' Suits for Fall. You'll find outstanding styles and models, a beautiful choice of materials at prices you can afford. P. S.—If you are hard to fit, take advantage of our special measure service.

Youthful Thieves Rob Jerseyville Teacher's Home

Jewelry, Lingerie, and Radio
Taken in Daylight Foray of Two Boys

Jerseyville—Two youthful thieves, entered and robbed the home of Mrs. Fannie Bradshaw, a teacher in the Jerseyville Grade school, about ten o'clock Friday morning while Mrs. Bradshaw was at school. The robbery was reported to Sheriff Floyd Darr, who is working on information furnished him by residents of the neighborhood where the crime was committed.

According to reports, some of the neighbors had observed two young boys loitering in the vicinity Friday morning and about ten o'clock, noticed them approach the Bradshaw home. Nothing further was thought of the incident until one woman who resides nearby saw the boys again about eleven-thirty o'clock some hours later. She reported the matter to her husband who went to the Bradshaw home and looking in the kitchen door, saw that the place had been ransacked. He immediately notified the sheriff's office and word was sent to Mrs. Bradshaw at the school.

Further investigation revealed that the entire house had been searched by the marauders. Receipts, clothing and silverware were strewn all over the house, making it difficult to determine the definite number of articles that were taken. It was learned, however, that all of Mrs. Bradshaw's jewelry, her silk lingerie and a radio had been taken. Several pieces of clothing belonging to Mrs. Bradshaw's son, Jake, a student at the University of Illinois, were also taken. It is reported that the boys were wearing some of young Bradshaw's clothing when they were seen leaving the house. A purse which contained only five pennies was left in the house and the thieves did not take a check which they found.

Mrs. Bradshaw is of the opinion that the thieves used a skeleton key in the door of the kitchen to gain entrance, as all of the doors and windows had been securely locked by her before she left for school that morning.

Coming to Convention
Quite a large delegation from Jersey county will attend the state convention of the Anti-Thief Association of Illinois which convenes in Jacksonville October 7th and 8th. Finn Downey of Jerseyville, state president of the organization will preside at the meeting.

On the evening of October 7th, Leonard Keeler of the crime division of Northwestern University, will address the group. Another speaker of prominence scheduled for the same evening is Ross Saunders formerly with the American Bankers' association. When connected with this group, he was instrumental in stopping the theft of large sums of money from the members of the organization. He is a state representative under the supervision of Clifford Gregory, editor of the Prairie Farmer, and has been holding meetings throughout the state regarding rural crime. His talk will be along this line.

Over Four Inches of Rain at White Hall

Water in City Reservoir Up
18 Inches; Apple Creek is Bank-full

White Hall—A total of 6.14 inches of rain has fallen here since Saturday morning, the official government co-operative report stated yesterday noon. Rainfall from sundown Sunday to noon yesterday amounted to 1.79 inches.

White Hall—White Hall had the heaviest rainfall on record during Saturday and Sunday night and part of Sunday. Beginning at 8 o'clock Saturday morning up until 6 o'clock Sunday evening there were 4.39 inches of rainfall, which was more than any recorded since records have been kept here. In twelve hours of that time there were 2.99 inches of rain which was the largest amount recorded since Sept. 29, 1934. The water in the city reservoir rose eighteen inches by Sunday evening.

There has not been any danger of water shortage in White Hall since 1923, when the dam was raised so that the lake would cover a larger area and would be several feet deeper.

All summer, farmers from miles around have been hauling water for their stock from the White Hall city reservoir, some of them keeping a man hauling all day long to meet their requirements.

Russell Roodhouse who resides south east of the city and whose farm is located on Apple Creek, said that he was in the creek bottom Saturday near where the Seminary creek runs into Apple creek, and while there was considerable water running in the Seminary, he walked up the creek a short way and there was no water at all, but that he soon saw the muddy water coming crawling along like a snake a foot and a half deep, and that within a half hour the creek was half bank full.

SUFFER FROM BURNS

Moline, Ill.—(P)—Frank Anspach, his 5-months-old daughter and an 18-months-old son were in a hospital here today suffering from serious burns inflicted when they were trapped by fire which destroyed the Anspach home.

JERSEY DOGWOOD IN BLOOM LATE IN YEAR

Failed to Bloom Last Spring Because of Cold
Weather, is Belief

Jerseyville—An unusual circumstance in tree life was reported here Saturday afternoon by Henry Vinson who resides southwest of the Village of Otterville in the vicinity of Hussey Lake.

Last spring the dogwood trees in Jersey county forests failed to bloom for the first time in the recollection of the inhabitants. The excessive cold weather of the past winter was cited as the probable cause.

Now the trees in the Hussey Lake vicinity are putting forth flower buds and will be in full blossom within a few days, Vinson reports.

"I never saw anything like that," Vinson stated. "The dogwood failed to bloom last spring for the first time that I ever remember, and now the trees are getting ready to put forth their blossoms in late September."

Flowering of other trees has been reported this month. In many places ripe apples are mingled with blossoms on the same bough of the apple trees.

DIES OF INJURIES

Yankees And Giants Have Workouts Preparing For Series Opener, Wednesday

New York, Sept. 28.—(P)—The calmest spots in a baseball mad New York today were the Polo grounds and the Yankee stadium where the Giants and Yankees worked out on their home diamonds for the last time before they meet in the first game of the world series Wednesday.

The two clubs will practice on rival fields tomorrow, with the Yankees getting their sights adjusted to the opening-game scenery at the Polo grounds while the Giants take a workout in the Bronx stadium.

These drills will complete preparations for a "subway series" that not only has the big town agog, after a 13-year interval in this rivalry, but which promises to shatter box-office records for baseball's championship affair.

The Yankees followed the Giants today in announcing a sellout of all reserved seats. This means more than half the capacity of each park already has been sold at the rate of $5.50 or $6.60 per ticket, for six games.

On the day of each game, 24,000 unreserved seats will be on sale at Polo grounds, starting at 8 a. m., or 30,000 at the Yankee stadium. The unreserved sections consist of grandstand space at $3.30 or bleachers at $1.10 each.

There were two new developments and countless rumors in the two camps today.

Bill Terry changed his batting order, moving Mel Ott, national league home run champion, into the cleanup position in place of center fielder Jimmy Ripple. Ripple was moved to fifth, and will probably yield to Hank Leiber if the Yankees start a left-hander.

Manager Joe McCarthy promises to announce his starting pitcher tomorrow. Judging from today's workout, Vernon "Lefty" Gomez will get the call.

Gomez took a long workout with catcher Bill Dickey and after the session said he thought he had more speed than at any time since he hurt his pitching arm in a game against the Indians early this season.

Charlie Ruffing, who has been mentioned with Gomez as the possible Yankee starter, spent the entire practice session in the batting cage.

Monte Pearson, Yankee pitcher who injured his back last Thursday, spent most of this morning under the lights and then worked out for the first time since the injury. He reported to McCarthy that he still could not throw at full speed. The Yankee manager said he doubted that Pearson would pitch before Sunday, if then.

The most persistent rumor in the Giants' camp is that Hal Schumacher and not Freddy Fitzsimmons will pitch the second game for the national leaguers. Terry said he thought that Schumacher was back in form but would not say definitely who would go to the mound Thursday.

Terry said that Hubbell definitely will pitch the opener.

"I've had most of my bad days in cold weather this year," he said.

Hubbell spent most of the practice period shagging flies and talking to reporters. With "Hub" on the mound, the Giants still favored 3-5 to take the opener, but the Yanks were favored at 11-20 to take the series.

The big town had the baseball fever. Hotels, night clubs, and theaters all reported a rushing business.

Meanwhile, both clubs took steps to guard a rush at the park gates Wednesday. Over 600 special policemen will be assigned to Polo grounds. The park was even searched today for stowaways.

Unreserved grandstand and bleacher tickets will not go on sale until Wednesday morning, but the line of prospective buyers was growing tonight. First to arrive was "Tony" Albano of Brooklyn, who announced that he had been at the ticket booth since Sept. 18.

"By tomorrow night I'll have a new world series record," Albano said. "Bill Cunningham of Kansas City holds the record. He waited ten days once. Tomorrow, I'll be here eleven."

Neither team appeared to take today's workout seriously. Manager McCarthy didn't even go down on the field. Terry was late. Bump Hadley and Red Rolfe of the Yankees, and Joe Moore, Giants' leadoff man, took movies.

Both clubs will stay together at their midtown hotels after tomorrow's practice.

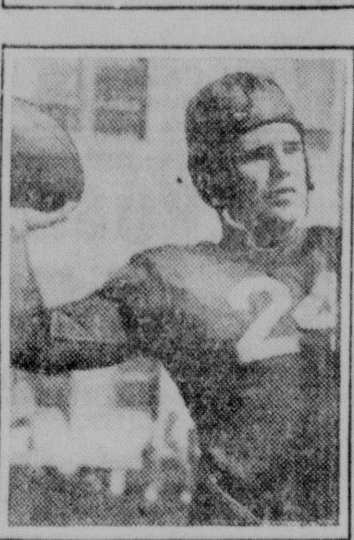

MAY CANCEL BOUT

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(P)—Sam Plan, co-manager of Barney Ross, world's welterweight champion, said tonight he would wait until tomorrow before cancelling Ross' scheduled title match with Jack Carroll, Australian challenger, scheduled for Sydney Dec. 8.

Plan has failed to receive $7,000 in expense money promised him a week ago, nor has he received word from promoter Charles Lucas.

Mrs. A. P. Myers of the New Berlin community was included in the number of shoppers in the city yesterday.

PLAY MAJOR ROLES IN SEASON'S EARLY FIRING

Football battles begin in earnest on all fronts as major teams open the campaign and many tackle opponents of equal mettle, Oct. 3. At left are two peerless passers, Sammy Baugh, above, of Texas Christian, and Floyd Blower, below, of California. Baugh chucks forwards against Arkansas at Fort Worth. Blower strives to stir up trouble for Saint Mary's College at Berkeley. Center, getting off a spiral, is Don Heap of Northwestern, who is to look after several assignments against Orzie Simmons and his Iowa companions at Evanston. Inset is Quarterback Andy Pupils, who directs Notre Dame against Carnegie Tech at South Bend. Upper right is Left Jacobson, Oregon end whom Southern California probably will find pestiferous in Los Angeles. Below is Larry Kelley, captain and end, who leads Yale against a young Cornell combination at New Haven.

I.S.D.-Converse Grid Battle Is Postponed Again

Contest Will Probably Not Be Played; Sek J. H. S. For Springfield Game

Jacksonville's Illinois School for the Deaf and Converse High at Springfield fielded approximately five inches of rain wash out their scheduled contest for the second time last night. The game was to have been on the Converse field Saturday, was set again for last night and then postponed indefinitely.

A Springfield report said that Converse at once started negotiations for a game with Jacksonville High to plug the season ticket gap.

The Feitschans-Roodhouse game, scheduled for Springfield yesterday, was also called off.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Smith of the Straus Crossing neighborhood were callers in the city yesterday.

Elmer King of the Franklin community was among those transacting business in the city yesterday.

:FAN BREEZES:

The Journal of the American Medical Association came out this month with a timely article on the proper materials to use in removing adhesive tape. It has been the custom in many football training quarters to remove the tape with benzine or other highly inflammable liquids.

Such a method of removing tape caused the death of two football players at Purdue this fall. The Journal points out that carbon tetrachloride, a common filler for fire extinguishers, also will remove tape, and does not have an irritating odor.

This substance, however, has not been put on the market in containers labelled to satisfy the Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry, and advertising matter, by which the producers expect to create a demand for the goods, must be revised before it will be accepted.

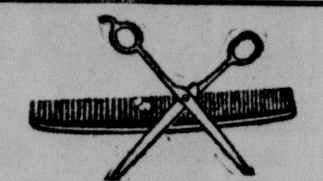

There is another substance, which has 98 percent dichloromethane, which also will do the work. However, the action of fumes of this liquid is similar to fumes from chloroform, and therefore not safe to use.

The Journal presents a formula of 60 percent carbon tetrachloride and 40 percent of naphtha with a small amount of oil of sassafras as a suitable and not dangerous mixture which will remove adhesive. Dr. G. L. Drennan, physician to the Illinois College team, brought out these points in a talk we had with him the other day.

The Blueboys are getting ready to go to Illinois Wesleyan this Saturday. J. H. S. will play Girard here, and Illinois School for the Deaf will be on the road.

Big Leagues' Heads Express Confidence

Good Pitching Versus Heavy Hitting Talked Today

New York.—(P)—The opening shots of the world series were fired from the rival camps of the Giants and Yankees today, when the front offices dusted off the "sold out" signs for reserve seat tickets.

The Yankees came right out and picked themselves and their batting power to take the series, starting Wednesday, in five games.

Bill Terry announced his probable starting lineup and put himself on record as backing his Giants to finish on top, because of the old, old baseball theory that good pitching can silence heavy hitting any time.

More interesting, however, was the announcement by Giants' Secretary Eddie Brannick that the Polo Grounds' reserved and box sections are completely gone for the first, second, and, if necessary, sixth games.

The Yankees, who will entertain the third, fourth and fifth games, scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, in their stadium on the opposite bank of the Harlem river, also reported a shortage of reserved seat tickets.

In his pre-battle statement, Terry named his Giants for their "exceptional pitching" overlooking the Broadway betting odds of 11 to 20, up or down, with the Yankees favorites, and the fact that this number two pitcher, Pat Freddy Fitzsimmons, looked in anything but championship form in the season's finale yesterday.

Terry also made it known that he's starting himself at first base in the opening game, which "King Carl" Hubbell is expected to pitch, despite his previous announcement that Sam Leslie would cover the sack in the series. Apparently Terry figures, that he can hold down the first corner to more advantage, bad knee notwithstanding.

The rest of his lineup will be unchanged, from JoJo Moore in the leadoff spot to Third Baseman Travis Jackson, batting eighth, except when the Yanks throw left-handed pitching. In that case, Hank Leiber will replace Jim Ripple in the outfield and Carrollton will take over the cleanup batting spot from Mel Ott, who will drop to fifth.

Manager Joe McCarthy, returning from Washington, let no one in on his starting lineup. Although the regular eight men will undoubtedly take the field as they have all season, the pitching problem is still up in the air. However, on the strength of Lefty Gomez's last two starts, it was believed "El Senor Goofy" will have the call over Big Red Ruffing to go against Hubbell in the first game.

Pleasant Hill, after winning its first game in two years of play in the Illinois Valley conference, can look forward to a test of its ability this Saturday afternoon when the team comes to Roodhouse for a conference tilt. Three games are on tap in the league this week-end, with Pleasant Hill and Roodhouse the only leaders scheduled to meet.

Football followers of the conference schools are looking forward to one of the most interesting seasons on record. They point out that every team playing a conference game last week end scored at least one touchdown, and in two cases, the winners were determined by the margin of a single touchdown.

White Hall, one of the leaders, is not scheduled for this week.

Even Ed Barrow's private supply of 6,000 tickets was dwindling.

"I'd better put one aside for myself pretty soon or I won't be able to get in," said the Yankee's general manager.

Tramps Last 36 Holes Over Rain Drenched, Cold, Course To Win Second Major Title

Joe Doyle, Illinois College Conference golf champion, tramped 36 holes over a drenched, cold and disagreeable course Sunday to win the Nichols Park open championship, his second major title of the golf season, by nosing out Jerome Barber on the 71st hole of a 72 hole tournament, by a one stroke margin. Doyle shot the 72 holes in 284, and Barber took 285 to place second.

Floyd Craft, who has dominated match play here for several years, was only three strokes back in a close finish, turning in the 72 holes in 287. James Buckley, the other member of the foursome which led the way, shot a 298 to finish fourth.

Doyle's victory qualified him as one of the outstanding golfers of the season, for he captured the match play championship at the park and then came from behind to win the title in the medal play tournament with rounds of 35-33-37-34 under the most adverse conditions. Although above par figures, Doyle went through rain and a soggy course to pile up his winning margin.

Barber, who is one of the longest drivers among local golfers, virtually lost the title on the last nine holes. He shot a 37 and a 35 during the morning round, and then turned in a 34 on the first nine of the afternoon round. His hopes began fading when he turned in a six on the second hole of the last nine. Doyle going one stroke in the lead with his three.

Doyle and Barber turned in identical scores through the next four holes, but Jerome tied the score on the seventh when he dropped in a three, while Doyle took a four. Doyle got his one stroke margin back on the next hole when Jerome shot a five and Doyle plunked his ball in par figures.

Honors for shooting the most spectacular golf of the day went to Craft. Craft fired the second round of the morning session in 32 strokes, turning in five threes, three fours and a five on the long sixth.

Buckley, who remained in the race through the first nine of the day, jumped out of the picture when his shooting went haywire on the second nine, and he carded a 46. Buckley didn't have a hole under four on that round and included four sixes in the blow-up. F. L. Davenport finished in fifth place with a total of 322, Van Luttrell finished sixth with 351, and Conrad Rowe finished seventh with 405. None of the other players who qualified appeared for the final 36 holes.

Doyle received a silver trophy for his victory, and qualified for a number of merchandise prizes offered for the tournament. Jerome Barber received five golf balls for finishing second, and Craft received three balls.

Yanks, Cards Tops in Individual Performances

New York.—(P)—The 1938 batting championships go to Luke Appling of the White Sox and Paul Waner of the Pirates, on the basis of unofficial figures, but despite losing those prizes, the Yankees and Cardinals just about stole the show in individual performances for the season.

Appling became the first shortstop in American League history to win the hitting crown when final computations, subject to possible revisions before they become official, gave him a .388 average to 378 for Earl Averil of Cleveland. Waner, regaining the honors he won in 1934, wound up with an unofficial .373, compared to 367 for Babe Phelps of Brooklyn.

George Huff Is Critically Ill

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 28.—(P)—Physicians at Carle hospital said tonight there was little change in the condition of George Huff, University of Illinois Athletic Director, who became critically ill following an operation for a stomach ailment Saturday.

Dr. J. C. Thomas said chest complications which set in after the operation made the 64-year-old patient's condition extremely serious this morning but that he had spent a fairly comfortable day. Huff has been athletic director at Illinois for 35 years.

There were reports that Huff might be given a year's leave of absence and that an acting director would be named, but president A. C. Willard said "I have absolutely no statement to make in regard to any changes in the staff."

Organize School Patrol at Virginia

Tomlinson and Bice Go To Cass City for Meeting Last Night

T. M. Tomlinson of this city, and Earl Bice of Springfield were in Virginia last evening to organize a school patrol at the meeting of the Kiwanis club. The patrol is being formed under auspices of the American Automobile Association, of which Mr. Bice is the area executive and Mr. Tomlinson the local manager.

Boys of the Virginia schools were at the meeting and the organization was put into effect.

The local patrol was organized several days ago. It is larger this year than usual, and is made up of lads from the junior high school. There are plans afoot to form a similar patrol in the high school here.

LEGION CONVENTION
BIGGEST IN HISTORY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wegehof returned from Cleveland where they participated in the national convention of the American Legion and its affiliated organizations.

The convention was the biggest in the history of the organization, Mr. Wegehof said yesterday. He said that he and his wife arrived at Cleveland last Sunday, and found boarding rooms aboard a vessel tied up at a Cleveland dock. There were a large number of other Illinois delegates staying aboard the boat which had been pressed into service in order to provide housing facilities for the throng.

The parade was the longest and best of the organization's history, Mr. Wegehof commented.

Three-day Downpour Ends Water Shortage; City Lakes are Filled

Five inches of rainfall since Saturday has put this city beyond all danger of water shortage, it was learned yesterday. The city lakes have been rapidly filling, and the water at Mauvaster dam is now within 23 inches of the point where it will flow over the spillway. The Widenham-Daub wells, which have been in operation for several weeks to augment the city water supply were closed down yesterday morning.

The water in the lakes is muddy, but the city filtration plant is working well and the supply flowing into the mains is pure. The city is once more taking its entire supply from its lakes, which the generous rain has flooded with an ample store of water.

Since Saturday 5.03 inches of rain has fallen in this area, according to the official gauge at the Norbury weather station. The totals for the three days are: Saturday, 1.38 inches; Sunday, 2.27 inches, and Monday up to noon, 1.38 inches. Prospects of more rain give promise that the lakes will be filled to capacity within a short time.

The heavy rain started about 11 o'clock Saturday morning. There was a downpour for nearly two hours. Saturday night and Sunday the rain was almost constant, with frequent heavy deluges. The rain continued yesterday morning but with somewhat lessened frequency.

Several creeks in this county are reported either full or out of banks. The rain was unusually heavy to the south. It has been general in scope. Travelers from the west encountered rain Friday at El Paso, Texas, and cloudy weather all the way to Kansas City, where it rained nearly all day Saturday. The downpour was general through Missouri and Illinois Saturday night and Sunday.

Water shortage which was worrying many communities has been relieved. Wells are being replenished, the fresh water coming as a great boon to farmers. Water hauling which has been necessary in many places, has come to an end.

The rain has assumed flood proportions. Culverts have been washed out on several highways in this section, and dirt roads are practically impassable.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS TO HOLD RALLY OCT. 3RD

The features of the rally, which will last from noon to midnight will be a dinner at six o'clock in the evening and a dance, to the music of a twelve piece broadcasting orchestra, at night. Most of the afternoon will be given over to contests, games, and a brief presentation at four o'clock of all the state candidates. Sam Hicks, chairman in charge of the affair, says the state committee is planning on an attendance of between six and seven thousand young people.

USE TEAR GAS ON STRIKING STUDENTS

Campbell, O.—(P)—Police threw two tear gas bombs today to disperse hundreds of striking memorial high school students, protesting against the transfer of a favorite teacher. Three youths were held on charges of suspicion.

Police Chief Frank Cunningham discharged the bombs near the throng as the students refused to halt a demonstration outside the school and enter the building. A squad of half a dozen policemen was on the scene.

Classes were suspended Friday when all but about 100 of the 1,000 students refused to enter the building, in protest against the transfer of Michael Graban, a popular instructor, to a grade school.

Superintendent of Schools Andrew Klinko explained that the transfer was routine, caused by smaller attendance at memorial this year which necessitated elimination of some classes.

CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The Morgan County Democratic club held a meeting at the headquarters on West State street recently. John R. Dunn called the meeting to order. Several candidates were present and spoke on behalf of the Democratic party. Committees were appointed to make arrangements for a mass meeting and fish fry to be held at Woodland Inn in the near future.

Included in this group was the soft ball team from the local club, which defeated a team from Champaign by a score of 5 to 15 in the first round of the soft ball tournament, being sponsored by the convention.

The Winchester club has also entered the singing contest, which will be a feature of the session Tuesday evening and there will be about 15 more Kiwanians who will take part in this event. The Winchester chorus will be directed by S. G. Smith, song leader for the club.

Transport Trucks Wrecked

Two large transport trucks slid into the ditch two miles north of Winchester Saturday night, when they ran into water and mud standing on the pavement. Both trucks slid into the ditch but to opposite sides of the pavement and at different times during the night and only one of them was overturned. The truck, which overturned, belonged to the Cooper-Jarrett transfer line and its load was transferred to another transport truck late yesterday evening.

Receive Rain

Winchester and vicinity received an additional 4 1/2 inches of rain from Saturday evening to Monday morning. This brought the total rainfall for the period from Saturday morning up to a total of 6.17 inches, according to a statement made today by Fritz Haskell.

Allen Wood of the Roodhouse community was among those transacting business in the city yesterday.

H. E. Spies was in the city yesterday from Winchester.

Winchester, Sept. 28.—Gov. Alf M. Landon told Illinois farm audiences today that "sweeping publicity" of details of the New Deal's "extravagance" was "imperative."

"The manner in which the present administration has hidden the details of its extravagance is a measure of its waste," the presidential candidate said as he campaigned through rural areas. "The present administration has pointedly resisted every effort to make public the payrolls of those who conduct its relief agencies."

"Not only would all of us like to know but we are entitled to know the names of all the directors, the supervisors, the administrators, the straw bosses and the salaries they draw. If the administration were sincere in its approach to the relief problem, there would be no need for this demand. If it were honest with the people who, through hidden taxes, would be none of this secrecy."

"All my life I have been prudent with my own money. As governor of Kansas I have been careful with the money of the people of my state. As chief executive of this nation I would consider it my first duty to exercise an equal care with the money of the American people."

Landon spoke as his train sped southward through Illinois. He boarded his private car at Byron after an overnight stay at the 4,500 acre estate of Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois. His rear platform appearances included Byron, Savanna, Moline and Rock Island.

The Republican candidate said his visit with Lowden had been "delightful and a most instructive one, with one of the most understanding friends the American farmer ever had."

"One of the most useful services rendered the people of Illinois by Governor Lowden was the elimination of waste in the administration of your state government," the Kansan told a crowd about his car.

"Extravagance" of New Deal Must Be Told, Says Landon

Way in Which It Has Been Hidden is Measure of Its Waste, He Says

Aboard Landon Special En Route To Topeka.—(P)—Gov. Alf M. Landon told Illinois farm audiences today that "sweeping publicity" of details of the New Deal's "extravagance" was "imperative."

"The manner in which the present administration has hidden the details of its extravagance is a measure of its waste," the presidential candidate said as he campaigned through rural areas. "The present administration has pointedly resisted every effort to make public the payrolls of those who conduct its relief agencies."

"Not only would all of us like to know but we are entitled to know the names of all the directors, the supervisors, the administrators, the straw bosses and the salaries they draw. If the administration were sincere in its approach to the relief problem, there would be no need for this demand. If it were honest with the people who, through hidden taxes, would be none of this secrecy."

NEWSPAPER AGAIN TO BROADCAST SERIES

Historic Board Will Be Put Up for World Series Wednesday

World series baseball beginning Wednesday will be available to the Jacksonville baseball fans again at the Journal and Courier office. The historic play-by-play board, which has served for a number of years, will again be placed on the outside wall of the paper warehouse, "bleachers" will be available, and details of the games between the New York Yankees and the New York Giants will be broadcast as quickly as they happen on the field of play.

Several years ago the Journal and Courier installed a different type board, but fans who gathered to watch and hear the play-by-play account of the game objected and the old board was brought out again the following year, and has been in continuous operation ever since.

Each game in this year's world series will be called at 12:30 p. m. Jacksonville time. The Journal and Courier will have two services at its command to assure an immediate report of each play. The newspapers will have a direct Associated Press wire to the two playing fields and also will have available radio connections.

State Campaign is Progressing With Each Party Active

Map Out Work for Next Few Weeks; Deny Communists Place on Ballot

Springfield, Ill.—(P)—The Illinois political campaign increased in intensity today, with both parties arranging for oratorical help during the next five weeks from out-of-state figures.

While Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential nominee, was the guest of former Governor Frank O. Lowden at his Ogle county farm, week-end developments included:

1. Communists again were denied a place on the Illinois ballot, the substitute electoral board of three supreme court justices having ruled that the Communist nomination petitions didn't have enough legal signatures.

2. Republicans started their fifth and Democrats their second week of intensive downstate stumping at statewide candidates.

3. Democratic headquarters announced the Roosevelt-Lewis-Horner campaign would be supported by such speakers as Secretaries Woodring of War and Roper of Commerce and Senators Barkley of Kentucky, Black of Alabama and Clark of Missouri, among others. Illinois party members scheduled for speeches include Senator Dierker, State Chairman Bruce A. Campbell and Michael L. Jace.

4. Col. Frank Knox, Republican candidate for vice-president, was scheduled to address a Republican meeting at Springfield Oct. 14. Landon is to make a major address at Chicago Oct. 9.

It was possible the Communists might renew efforts in federal court to get on the ballot. The Communist ticket also was disqualified in 1934 on the ground that many of the signatures were improper.

As state officials prepared to certify the names of November 3 candidates, four third parties—Union Progressive, Socialist, Socialist Labor, and Prohibition—had full state tickets entered.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis during the week-end campaign had repeated his declaration that "there are no political parties in America," contending that parties have been replaced by political organizations in behalf of candidates and that the voters disregard platform.

Lewis with one Democratic caravan was scheduled to speak at Beardstown and Peoria today, working northward, while Governor Horner and another group were booked at Dixon, Sterling, and Rock Island-Moline, on their way south.

Stock Market Prices Higher

New York, Sept. 28.—(P)—Financial markets generally derived further cheer today from the movement to stabilize leading international currencies and from the progressive trend exhibited by domestic industry.

Stocks, while encountering considerable profit taking, on the whole managed to emerge with gains of fractions to a point or more with motors and specialties taking the lead.

The French step toward reducing the stated value of the franc, with the aid of Great Britain and the United States, found most financial quarters in agreement with the plan to bring this monetary unit into better alignment with the dollar and the pound.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 2.6 of a point to 631. Transfers totaled 1,450,360 shares against 1,513,930 last Friday.

Foreign exchange transactions were watched more closely even than stocks. The pound sterling fell back more than 2 cents and the French unit recovered substantially although dealings were small and unofficial.

Swiss francs were off sharply as this currency was expected to follow the French. Guilders were nominally quoted at sizeable drop.

Chrysler shares got up around a 6-year top with a net gain of 1 1/2 points at 123 1/2. General Motors was up 1 1/2 at 68 1/2, and Studebaker, most active issue of the day, gained 1 1/2 at 14 1/2.

Swine Market Is Slightly Higher

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(P)—Curtilage of receipts and stiffening wholesale fresh pork prices, just enough stimulus to the hog market today to raise prices in some instances as much as 15 cents.

Strength also appeared in the cattle and sheep markets although receipts in the branches of trade were considerably larger.

Hogs closed on a steady to 15 cents higher basis. Top was 5 cents above last week's peak, being $10.30 in today's trade.

The average cost of hogs is now around the lowest level of the year despite the fact that in May the top was below the current level.

The hog run fell sharply below advance estimates and this was an important factor in the market strength along with the fact that prices of wholesale pork loins scored their first substantial advance since September 8.

All cuts showed a gain of about 5 cents a pound.

The strength in the cattle trade was spread through most classes of steers, bulls, all stock and vealers. Yearlings were firm but weighty steers were unevenly steady to 15 cents higher.

Yearlings brought the $10.40 top while weighty steers hit a price just 5 cents lower. Government authorization to buy cutter steers, and heifers here and at three other corn-belt markets was received by contracting packers.

Fat lambs were steady to 25 cents higher. The practical top for native was $9.65.

Wholesale beef carcass prices in the Chicago market were unchanged again today. Carcasses were quoted at from 9 to 16 cents a pound. There has been no change in this market since September 8.

Morgan County Delegates Will Report Tonight on Rural Youth Meeting; Water-Hauling Stops as Wells And Ponds Fill; Second Article on School Lunches

The first meeting of the fall season of the Rural Youth organization in Morgan county will be held this evening at the Farm Bureau office.

Harold Hembrough, Wilbur Reed and Harold Loneragan, who attended the state rural youth conference at Urbana last week, will give reports.

As no meeting of the local group was held in August, a large attendance of eligible young people is desired tonight.

E. L. Rhea Rejoices, As Water Hauling Is Over

All farmers are appreciative of the heavy rains of the past few days, but none more so than E. L. Rhea, who lives a mile west of Waverly.

Mr. Rhea, while transacting business here Monday, expressed satisfaction that he will now be relieved from the monotonous job of hauling water for his livestock.

Last July 15 the wells on Mr. Rhea's farm began to give out, and he was obliged to look for other sources. He found an abandoned well that still contained some water, so he used a bucket to draw six barrels a day.

Later, he obtained water by tank truck from the Burlington reservoir at Franklin.

Mr. Rhea reported that beginning Saturday his community got its share of the continued rains. A pond that had been bone dry for many months filled almost to capacity, and wells began to show effects of the down-pour.

Morgan County Corn Judges Will Complete

Morgan county will send three teams of four-H club members to the state corn-judging contest at Urbana next Saturday. Personnel of the teams has not yet been selected. Each team will be composed of three members.

Plans are nearing completion for a finish-up school for Girls' Four-H club leaders and assistants Thursday, Oct. 1, at the Farm Bureau office. Miss Mary Vanneman, assistant state club leader, will be present.

Conservation Chairman Makes Announcement

Soybeans may be plowed under after Sept. 30 until the date of final inspection under the government's soil conservation program, and still be listed as soil conserving, according to an announcement Monday by Wallace Hembrough, chairman of the work in Morgan county. Ground on which soybeans have been removed for hay may be seeded to a conserving crop after Sept. 30, the only requirement being that they show a stand by the time of final inspection. The date of final inspection may be the middle or

Wheat Futures

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(P)—Disappointing dearth of export business at Winnipeg, together with 31 cents a bushel break in Liverpool quotations, tumbled Chicago wheat futures downward 2 1/2 cents today.

Eastern and southwestern houses were persistent sellers in the wheat market here. Chaotic conditions regarding European exchange had a decidedly unsettling effect.

Reports of beneficial moisture also in parts of Australia, as well as over domestic winter wheat territory south-west, were a handicap to friends of higher wheat prices. Predictions that European purchase orders for wheat would again come into the Canadian market as soon as the value of money overseas was more definitely known failed to act as an immediate counterbalance.

Wheat closed nervous, 11-24 under yesterday's finish, Dec. 113 1/2-1, May 112 1/2-1, July 100 1/2-1, corn 4-1 down, Dec. 94 1/2-1, May 89 1/2-1, July 86 1/2-1, off. Dec. 42 1/2, and the market for July set back to a advance, Dec. 4 1/2. Provisions results were unchanged to 10 cents lower.

Violence of reactions in the Liverpool wheat market was especially a jolt to Chicago traders, many of whom had been hopeful of a more prompt clearing-up of exchange difficulties and of at least partial resumption of export buying of Canadian wheat.

For the first time, July wheat which represents the 1937 domestic harvest, was officially quoted in Chicago today. The official price posted was $1.02 1/2.

Subsequently, the market for July dropped to 99 1/2 cents, but rallied at the last to $1.00 1/2. A reason given for discounting July so heavily as compared with December and May was that a big acreage of winter wheat apparently will be planted this season on account of recent heavy rains.

A decrease of the United States wheat visible supply today, 835,000 bushels, contrasted with an increase of more than 4,000,000 bushels a year ago. Notice was taken, too, that Canadian country marketings had dropped off sharply, amounting to but 1,299,000 bushels for 24 hours.

Corn oats and rye sympathized with weakness of wheat. Heavy rains, however, in the corn belt were reported as delaying maturity of the corn crop. Provisions averaged lower, responsive to action of grains.

Wheat Futures

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(P)—Disappointing dearth of export business at Winnipeg, together with 31 cents a bushel break in Liverpool quotations, tumbled Chicago wheat futures downward 2 1/2 cents today.

Eastern and southwestern houses were persistent sellers in the wheat market here. Chaotic conditions regarding European exchange had a decidedly unsettling effect.

Reports of beneficial moisture also in parts of Australia, as well as over domestic winter wheat territory south-west, were a handicap to friends of higher wheat prices. Predictions that European purchase orders for wheat would again come into the Canadian market as soon as the value of money overseas was more definitely known failed to act as an immediate counterbalance.

Wheat closed nervous, 11-24 under yesterday's finish, Dec. 113 1/2-1, May 112 1/2-1, July 100 1/2-1, corn 4-1 down, Dec. 94 1/2-1, May 89 1/2-1, July 86 1/2-1, off. Dec. 42 1/2, and the market for July set back to a advance, Dec. 4 1/2. Provisions results were unchanged to 10 cents lower.

Violence of reactions in the Liverpool wheat market was especially a jolt to Chicago traders, many of whom had been hopeful of a more prompt clearing-up of exchange difficulties and of at least partial resumption of export buying of Canadian wheat.

For the first time, July wheat which represents the 1937 domestic harvest, was officially quoted in Chicago today. The official price posted was $1.02 1/2.

Subsequently, the market for July dropped to 99 1/2 cents, but rallied at the last to $1.00 1/2. A reason given for discounting July so heavily as compared with December and May was that a big acreage of winter wheat apparently will be planted this season on account of recent heavy rains.

A decrease of the United States wheat visible supply today, 835,000 bushels, contrasted with an increase of more than 4,000,000 bushels a year ago. Notice was taken, too, that Canadian country marketings had dropped off sharply, amounting to but 1,299,000 bushels for 24 hours.

Corn oats and rye sympathized with weakness of wheat. Heavy rains, however, in the corn belt were reported as delaying maturity of the corn crop. Provisions averaged lower, responsive to action of grains.

Texas Is Menaced by Flood

Four Lose Lives; 17 Towns Below Waco Without Gas; Hundreds Homeless; Seek Emergency Relief.

RIVERS RISING FAST

Waco, Tex.—(AP)—Thousands were homeless in central Texas and damage was mounting into the millions as the Little River rolled on at record breaking flood stage towards Cameron today, where high waters surpassing those of the 1921 disaster were awaited by the 6,000 residents.

Brazos river waters started receding at Waco as 2,500 homeless sought emergency relief. The flood stage was 38 feet at 9 a. m. as compared to 41 feet at its height. W. T. Torrance, city manager of WACO, estimated damage at $500,000.

Elsewhere in the state four lives were taken by the floods.

Seventeen towns below Waco were without gas when the Lone Star Gas company's suspension bridge on the Brazos was washed out. The towns included Temple, Belton, Little River, Moody, Edroy, Holland, Cameron, Rockdale, Rosebud, Lott, Taylor, Troy, Georgetown, Round Rock, Granger, South Waco and Bartlett.

"Just an application of practical psychology." Gray Moreland, principal of a Newark, N. J., grammar school, defends the fake lie detector he demonstrates on a volunteer. The little black box with its dials and blinking lights created a future when its use became known, although pupils, parents and teachers disagreed on the ethics of the practice.

The Temple waterworks pumping station was threatened when the Leon river reached the 21 foot flood stage. Pumps were used to empty the water and the Temple Telegram reported the water supply was not immediately in danger.

The 22-foot rise of the Leon river was expected to strike Coryell county late today.

Three Forks residents reported several homes had been washed downstream there, where the Lampasas and Leon rivers joined to form the Little River. No loss of life was reported.

The Lampasas river, fed by the Sulphur Creek after an inch rain, started receding today at Lampasas. The public square was flooded, water standing from a few inches to eight feet deep in some sections of the town. No estimate of the property loss was immediately available.

CONVICT U.S. SEAMAN ON SEDITION CHARGE

Berlin, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Lawrence Simpson, American seaman, was convicted of sedition by the peoples court today and sentenced to three years in prison—minus the 14 months he already has served.

Simpson, a sailor on the S. S. Manhattan, was convicted in a swift one-trial trial, during which he admitted without reservation that he and three German communist friends had tried to set up a popular front government in Nazi Germany with three small balloons and packages of anti-Nazi propaganda.

Simpson, a sailor from Seattle, told the court how he and three other communists tried to launch a popular front government in Germany with the small balloons and propaganda.

The venture failed, Simpson said, because one of the four turned out to be a police spy.

He admitted freely that he repeatedly brought communist propaganda into Germany aboard the S. S. Manhattan—on one occasion smuggling 60,000 "death to fascism" stickers into the reich.

Simpson, a sailor from Seattle, told the court how he and three other communists tried to launch a popular front government in Germany with the small balloons and propaganda.

The venture failed, Simpson said, because one of the four turned out to be a police spy.

He admitted freely that he repeatedly brought communist propaganda into Germany aboard the S. S. Manhattan—on one occasion smuggling 60,000 "death to fascism" stickers into the reich.

Henry Mawson of the Point neighborhood was among those transacting business in the city yesterday.

School Election Approval Would Increase Tax Rate

Board of Education Would Have Power for Increase Up To $1.35

The election which will be submitted to voters of Jacksonville October 17, if voted upon favorably, would give the board of education the power to increase the tax rate for the educational fund to not more than $1.35 for each $100 of assessed valuation. The election was decided upon following the board's decision that the only possible manner in which it could provide revenue with which it will restore ten per cent cuts made on teacher's salaries a few years ago, is to increase the tax rate.

The board last year levied a tax of $1.00 for the educational fund and 85 cents for the bond and interest funds, used for retirement of the bonded indebtedness incurred for building and by refunding issues passed by the board. The proposed increase would amount to an additional 15 cents on each $100 assessed valuation over last year. Last year's rate covered a period of 18 months. This year the tax rate for the bond and interest fund will be based on a 12 months period.

Superintendent R. O. Stoops states that the local school system has lost six teachers this year, who resigned to take positions paying from 25 to 50 per cent more than they received here, and that the valuation of property has decreased from $12,563,361 in 1929-30 to $9,351,179 during the last school year, a decrease of 26 per cent in seven years. Four years ago the city schools protested a cut in the assessed valuation, to the county commissioners, but they made a reduction despite the protest.

Jacksonville is one of four cities in the state between 10,000 and 30,000 population which has been operating its schools on the tax rate of $1.00 for the educational fund. Other cities in this class either have a dual unit for levying taxes, or where there are single governing units, have higher tax rates with a single exception. The dual unit system is composed of different boards of education for the grade and high schools, each board having the power to levy taxes for their respective units.

Figures taken from last year's tax record books show that the assessed valuation in Freeport was $16,326,069; in Galesburg was $24,190,844; and in Quincy was $33,999,380, compared to the $9,443,334 assessed valuation in Jacksonville.

Reducing these figures to teaching units, Dr. Stoops said that here there is only $102,000 behind each of the 92 teachers employed in the local school system. There is $181,000 behind each of the 188 teachers employed in the Quincy schools, $149,000 behind each of the 162 teachers employed in the Galesburg school, and $135,000 behind each of the 121 teachers in the Freeport schools. Those figures, Dr. Stoops said, point very clearly to the cause of the trouble which now faces the board.

The average of the tax rate for 61 schools in Jacksonville's population class is $1.38 according to figures which Dr. Stoops has compiled.

The proposal to increase the tax rate for the educational fund, if approved, will become effective with taxes which are to be paid next year. The increase, if voted, will be extended against this year's valuations as set down by the county assessor.

The proposed increase would increase the amount of money available for use in the educational fund about $27,000, Dr. Stoops estimated. This would enable the board of education to restore the cuts taken in teacher salaries at the time of the bank failure a few years ago, and allow approximately an additional $3,000 to be expended for library and instructional matter, and health work.

If the tax increase is approved, Dr. Stoops said it might be possible that the board of education would restore two ten per cent cuts toward the end of the school year. The increase in salaries, however, would not be retroactive for the whole school year, but would be for the months for which the board feels that it will be financially able to make the restoration.

FURNACE SMOKE CAUSES ALARM ON EAST STATE STREET

The fire department was called to Monty's Marinello Studio, 218 East State street, at 6:30 o'clock last night when smoke from the furnace partly filled the upper room.

Mrs. E. Freeman, who was sitting in the office of the studio, saw smoke coming from the walk in front of the building. She called the fire department and when the firemen saw the smoke pouring from the building, they quickly laid a line of hose ready to battle what appeared to be a large fire.

Investigation showed that a stoker had used up all the fuel in the hopper and smoke had backed into the fuel container into the basement. No damage resulted and several beauty operators continued their work.

Mahlon Gaumer to Play One of Leads in Church Pageant

Portion of Cast of Characters Announced for "First Commandment"

Mahlon Gaumer has been selected to play one of the leading roles in the "First Commandment" pageant to be held here at the Central Christian church on the evenings of Oct. 3 and 4. Selection of the persons who will play some of the leading roles in the production was announced Monday by the cast committee and the director, Eunice Grover Hamilton.

Mr. Gaumer will portray the role of Joseph in scenes which will present Joseph with his ten brothers wearing costumes of the period, and illuminated with special lighting effects.

Supporting Mr. Gaumer will be Ben Roodhouse, in the role of Reuben, who attempted to prevent the other brothers from selling Joseph into slavery. Paul Knox has been cast in the role of Judah, whose artful and scheming ways led the brothers to actually sell Joseph into slavery. Keith Crum will do the part of Simeon, and William Crabbe will play the part of Levi. Other characters are Carl Burris as Zebulun, Charles Barber as Dan, Dave Livengood as Naphtali, Charles Fulton as Asher, D. L. Hardin as Isaac, James Eysatt as Gad, and John Self as Benjamin.

Ira Allen and Loraine Strubinger have been assigned to play the parts of the Ishmaelites who buy Joseph. Rev. Harry Lohman, as the grandfather, will deliver the prologue, and will be assisted in presenting the opening scene, during which many important announcements concerning the production will be made, by John Chapman, cast in the role of the father, and Mrs. Claude Gustine, in the role of the mother. Billy Bennett and Barbara Stephenson will portray the grandchildren.

Some of the most spectacular and outstanding scenes in the "First Commandment" are those depicting the Court of Pharaoh. They are to be staged with all of the pomp and ceremony of ancient Egypt, and the characters in these scenes will wear costumes of the period of 4,000 years ago. Bill Clark has been cast in the role of Pharaoh, on Joseph's time who made Joseph governor of all Egypt because of his ability to interpret Pharaoh's dreams. Rev. F. M. Crabtree has been cast as Pharaoh in the days of Moses, who turned against the Hebrews and refused to allow them to leave Egypt. Rev. Crabtree has been cast in the role which historians say King Tut lived in ancient history.

The Pharaoh is supported by a large number of persons in the court scenes. Harold Hammel of Lynnville is the chief butler, Gerald Heston of Lynnville will play the part of the chief eunuch, and Joe Bagale will have the part of the chief steward of the court.

Robert Perkins of Murrayville will play the part of the captain of the guards, and will be supported by Donald Woodward, John Newberry and Billy Curtis as guards. Mrs. Carl Burris and Mrs. Charles Fulton will act as fan bearers, and Miss Frances Brown will be the maid servant. George Douglas, Bert Andre, William Randall and Charles Roberts have been cast as the wise men who were unable to interpret the king's dream.

Discarded Straw Hat Marks Close of Summer Season

One of the surest signs of permanent fall weather was resting sojly in a puddle last night in Central Park—last summer's straw hat.

On that grass "Katy" has fallen the hottest and steadiest sunshine in many seasons, and the least amount of rain to spot its light tan surface.

Tradition has it that these chap-eaux are most suitably thrown on the field of a ball game at the proper time each year, or unbelievably fed to Old Susie, the neighborhood's brindle cow.

Beau Brummels have ragged loud and long concerning the proper date for their discard, but the exact time continues to vary according to the gentleman's individual taste.

Next week, our choleric Weather Man may nonchalantly turn on the heat again with the full vehemence of the "Last Rays of Summer." But like the robin in the spring, the first drift of snow in winter, and the ripening wheat of summer—the straw hat last night was definitely on its way out.
